Copper River Native Association Public Law 102-477 Plan

I. Introduction

Copper River Native Association (CRNA) is the nonprofit that was established in 1972, in the Ahtna Region to promote the Health, Social, Economic and Education needs for their tribal members. Now CRNA is compacted with the Native Village of Cantwell, Native Village of Gakona, Native Village of Gulkana, Native Village of Kluti-Kaah and the Native Village of Tazlina. CRNA's P.L. 102-477 plan is to provide services in our region, and all tribal members are encouraged to complete the application process for services.

CRNA is located at mile 111.5 Richardson Highway in Tazlina, Alaska, Which is 111.5 miles north of Valdez, Alaska, and 196 miles north-east of Anchorage, Alaska. Tazlina is in the center of all the villages we serve within the Copper River Basin. Tazlina means "swift water" in Ahtna. The Copper River Basin encompasses the Ahtna Region, named after the people in the areas and also the name of the regional Native Corporation, Ahtna, Incorporated. The Copper River Basin encompasses over 18.5 million acres, approximately the size of the state of Ohio. This area is bordered by the Mat-Su Borough, the North-Star Borough, and other boroughs and is itself still an unorganized borough. Our population based on DCCED in 2010 is 3,277, the population figures from Cantwell, Chistochina, Chitina, Kluti-Kaah (Copper Center), Gakona, Glennallen, Gulkana, Kenny Lake, Mendeltna, Nelchina, Slana, Tolsona and Tonsina.

The economy in most of the Copper River basin is less than robust, with poverty rates as high as 40% in some communities, and unemployment over 25% in eight of the 13 communities. The local cost of living based on the University of Alaska index for 2004 is about 135% of Anchorage. In the upper Copper River Basin there are 3 communities with populations over 350, and 10 smaller communities ranging in size from 44 to 192. The Copper River Basin and the Copper River Valley region although connected by the state highway system, are rural and scattered. The Copper River Basin has needs directly caused by the vast geographical distance between communities and homes. These distances and the economic depression of the area, creates hardship, and problems in obtaining transportation and services. Some of these communities are more than 60 (sixty) miles from Glennallen (pop. 574), the business hub of the Copper River Valley. Local businesses primarily serve travelers along the Glenn Highway, providing gasoline, supplies and services. Ahntna, Incorporated, Copper River Basin Regional Housing Authority, Schools, Tribal Government, Bureau of Land Management, National Park Service, Alaska State Troopers, the Department of Fish and Game, Department of Transportation, utility services and medical care offer full-time employment for local residents.

With limited opportunities for year round employment, many people work away from home in seasonal construction. Federal projects play a big role in the region. These types of projects are all short-lived, lasting only months, or at best a few years, and they require extended stays away from home. They are, however, a critical component to regional income. Access to the cash economy is severely limited in the traditional native communities and within the more isolated settlements; and traditional subsistence lifestyles, where locally harvested fish and game, summer gardens and wild plant and berry gathering supplement limited “cash economy” opportunities. Lodges, tourist services, and guiding services are growing in number, but the increase in pressure on natural resources that follow these developments is of concern. Traditional communities that rely on subsistence harvest food have seen major increases in pressure on local resources. New competition from non-residents and subsequent loss of harvest opportunity has a significant impact on families whose economy is based more on subsistence lifestyles.

Living expense in this area is higher than the city hubs. Currently, unleaded gasoline is $3.22 a gallon, propane is $3.56 a gallon and heating oil is $3.14 a gallon, or an average of 150 gallons per month, per household. Heating costs increase when the temperature drops below -50 degrees. Electric cost can range from $80.00 to $300.00 a month depending on how energy efficient the home is and is lower in the summer months. Parts of the area are not connected with commercial power, and many homes are without fresh water wells and proper sewage disposal. Food and non-food items cost twice the national average. Subsistence has been the foundation for the regional economy since time immemorial. Salmon were the measure of wealth and the key to survival for the indigenous people of the region. Subsistence is a major factor in the economy since jobs are few and mostly seasonal. Almost all families participate in subsistence foods harvest of wild game, fish, birds, berries, eggs, herbs and plants. Many of the residents rely on subsistence and traditional foods.

In other parts of Alaska, many of the types of services offered through CRNA are provided by local government organizations such as municipalities and boroughs. Copper River Basin still remains one of the last places in the United States without local government. This Region is an “Un-organized Borough” within the state of Alaska. It has no local laws, regulations, zoning restrictions, codes or taxes, other than those imposed by the state and federal governments and does not have municipal funds available for all services needed in the region. The only form of government within the region is the Tribal Governments, the Kenny Lake League and the elected school board. As a whole, the residents of the Copper River Basin prefer it this way.

In the newly formed Child Development (CD) department alone, CRNA is investing over $2 million dollars per year, to provide access to the highest standards of early child development, nutrition, and fitness.

The Child Development program will be able to provide child care to 75 children in the child development center and cabin, CD will also provide outreach services to children in our communities.

CRNA provides youth leadership programs and outreach for the youth in our service area. CRNA will assist in the provision of youth career readiness and development to over 20 youth in our service area.

Copper River Native Association Public Law 102-477 Plan

CRNA's training and development includes departments from across the entire organization, such as Tribal Community Services, Child Development, Personnel Development, Behavioral Health, Health Services, Elders Services, etc. CRNA provides programs beyond child care. Youth and young adults are actively engaged in culture camps, service to our community, work crews, development of world-class educational environments, investment in career and life skills training and leadership opportunities for youth and young adults, and support and encouragement to young families. CRNA takes a comprehensive approach to services, both in terms of service delivery models, and in provision of services across the lifespan.

CRNA will utilize the power of the P. L. 102-477 Plan to coordinate and maximize comprehensive service delivery for our community, and intends to showcase a local model of service delivery within tribal and rural contexts, which will be replicable globally.

Intake

The intake form will include the following information: physical and mailing address, contact information, employment status, special skills, education level, and what the family situation is such as number of dependents, household income and expenses. Based upon the intake information staff will develop a comprehensive and integrated Individual Self Sufficiency Plan with the client. All information collected for the client will be included in a common data base and utilized for the development of annual reports.

Eligibility

Eligibility includes individuals who are enrolled or eligible for enrollment in a Federally recognized Alaska Native or American Indian Tribe as listed in the most recent Federal Register, lives within the CRNA service area, and in need of services which lead to individual self-sufficiency; in some cases income may be a determining factor or, prior service; certain criminal offences will also be considered a determining factor. Proof of eligibility may include a Certificate of Indian Blood or a letter from the Tribe on Tribal Letterhead verifying that they are descendants of one of their Base Enrolled Tribal Members.

Assessments

Copper River Native Association Public Law 102-477 Plan

The Life Skills Coach will assist the applicant with the Individual Self-sufficiency Plan (ISP) and utilize it as an assessment tool. The ISP will list client's employment barriers and then use that information to gauge what education, job skills training, treatment program, or other assistance will be beneficial to them moving into gainful employment.

Individual Self Sufficiency Plan:

The participant will have a short term and long term goal. Their short term goal will be to obtain employment and/or accomplish the activities necessary to lessen or remove their employment barriers. The participant's long term goal will be their career of choice and some of their short term goals will be directed toward achieving this goal. While the client is actively receiving assistance through the program their ISP goals will be reviewed every month to see if they have obtained their previously set goals and if they have, then set new goals. Support Services may include cash assistance to support basic needs until the client has attained gainful employment; and childcare will support parents in their efforts to be self-sustainable while they are involved in qualifying activities for work and education. Cash assistance recipients will require work activities. Work related activities can be work searches or other activities to achieve job readiness or job availability. Sanctions will be assessed for those clients who do not comply. Repeat services to clients will be made considering past accomplishments. The client must have met their agreed upon goals, to be eligible for services. A new ISP must also be put in place.

VI. Training & Development Activities

CRNA takes a comprehensive approach to our services, both in terms of service delivery models, and in provision of services across the lifespan. CRNA training and development includes departments from across the entire organization, such as Child & Youth Development (CYD), Tribal and Community Services, Personnel Development, Behavioral Health, Health Services, etc.

IX. Child Care Services

*IN ALL ASPECTS OF CHILD CARE: CULTURE RELEVANCY WILL BE INCLUDED

Programs Integrated in the Plan

CRNA Tribal and Community Service Department will administer the CCDF Program through a single, integrated client service delivery system administered under P. L. 102-477 for Program Years 2020-2023. Based on the FY16 CCDF Allocation Table CRNA is a small allocation. We are integrating the CCDF services within 477 to address our participant's barriers for child care services. We expect to have more streamline services in respect to CRNA services. CRNA will use the total CCDF allotment to fund child care services consistent with the purpose and requirements of the CCDF as per §98.1 of the regulations. CRNA will not use CCDF for any activities expressly prohibited by statute or regulation. Tribal Community Services Department will coordinate with the Child and Youth Development Department for administering quality improvement activities i.e. education and training.

As parents pursue employment and self-sufficiency their eligibility information will determine the extent and scope of their childcare needs. Childcare Services are offered based on the families gross income and eligibility will be prioritized by low income and special needs. Payment rates will ensure equal access to families in need of childcare services. In addition to the list of approved activities, on a case by case basis, child protective services will be included and may be in the form of short-term placement in a foster care situation under a legal guardian.

Program information is available to all eligible interested parents within the CRNA service area. The CRNA Life Skills Coach will coordinate the delivery of direct childcare services. Parents are informed of the availability of childcare services via brochures, notices in the CRNA newsletters, Social Media, CRNA staff and other service organizations in the CRNA service area.

Coordination of services between the Department of Public Assistance and Alaska Temporary Assistance Program (ATAP) will ensure that clients who are mandatory work activity participants are informed that they are immediately-approved to pursue childcare services. Parents who apply for and are actively participating in educational, training or employment programs can receive childcare service and information from the CRNA staff as well as from the Village Council Offices. The results are parents can pursue self-sufficiency.

CRNA may provide services to approved families through a payment system, and pay the Child care provider based upon qualified enrolled children, and to support the quality improvement activities. Payments may be utilized in a variety of childcare categories, including:

Center Based Care, Licensed Exempt Family Child Care and In Home Care providers.

No funds shall be expended for the purchase of improvement of land, or for the purchase, construction, or permanent improvement of any building or facility. However, funds may be expended for minor remodeling, and for upgrading child care facilities to assure that providers meet State and local child care standards, including applicable health and safety requirements.

CRNA is developing a TANF program that will be integrated into the plan at a later date. Until we achieve that goal, we will refer parents to the proper agency to receive assistance, while still assisting with child care to enable parents to move off of the ATAP program and to become employed.

State Licensed Child Care

On occasions when families are in another location on a temporary basis we may provide payment for State Licensed child care if they are attending trainings or meetings for their employment. Payment will be issued directly to the provider.

CRNA used the 2017 State of Alaska - DHSS - Division of Public Assistance, Child Care Assistance Program Rate Schedule as our guide. CRNA is part of the Gulf Coast area.

Full Month = 17 to 23 that includes at least one full day, during a calendar month;

Part Month = Fewer than 17 days of care in any combination of part or full days in a month, or 17 to 23 partial days of care during a calendar month;

Full Day = 5 hours and 1 minute of care and up to and including 10 hours of care in a day;

Part Day = More than one hour and up to and including five (5) hours of care on a calendar day;

Hourly = Care by hour when more than ten (10) hours of care is needed on a calendar day. To be paid in addition to normal rates, may be paid in partial hours to the nearest quarter hour.

The pay rate for Full Month and Part Month are different than the State rates because the high cost of care is not accurately reflected for our area. We are choosing to pay a higher rate to not cause a decrease in services for families.

CRNA utilized the Federal Register Federal Poverty Rate FY2017 to calculate Gross Monthly Income (GMI).

CRNA pays the State of Alaska payment rates except we increased the pay rate for Full Month and Part Month payments, we provide equal access for comparable services.

Parents Financial Responsibility

Co-pay's for parents will be based off the required child care service amount at a rate of 1%. (For Example: if the Child Care Center is charging $700.00 for that child's care the parents copayment would be 1% of the $700.00 which equals to $7.00)

Co-pay for parents will be increased by $10.00 per additional children covered. (For Example: if the parents are paying $7.00 for the first child their copayment for two children would then be $17.00 after adding that additional $10.00)

Co-payments are waived for foster families and families acting In Loco Parentis without financial support. CRNA may also use childcare dollars for parents who do not qualify for state assistance and those who have high copays.

Procedures for Parents

Copper River Native Association Public Law 102-477 Plan

Application Process

Parents requesting childcare assistance are provided with the Application Form for Employment Related Services at the time of the referral or upon request. This application is self-certifying (by signature the applicant states that all of the information contained in the application is true, verifiable and has not been intentionally misrepresented).

- a) All applicants must submit a copy of the child's original birth certificate as well as any proof that the applicant is of Alaska Native or Native American descent.
- b) Documentation of all income (this includes both earned and unearned income) is required through:
 - payroll stubs
 - computer generated print-outs regarding unemployment or ATAP benefits
 - copy of child support payments or letters of intent from the agency that provided the income when stubs are not available
 - bank statements to verify if the amount of money they have in holding would count as income.
- c) Detailed schedule information on days and hours of active participation at a specific work or training site. The supervisor or manager who can verify attendance must sign this information. A family may submit their application and necessary documents via the U.S. Postal Service, via fax, or by visiting the CRNA office in person. At the time of application, the client is provided information on all details related to the parental responsibility of locating and maintaining quality childcare services. Consumer education information is collected and distributed to parents of all eligible children to promote informed childcare choices.

CRNA will review the application for completeness including the verification of income to determine eligibility. When the Life Skills Coach determines the applicant is eligible for childcare services, and calculates the amount of assistance to be granted, s/he then issues a letter of approval. No more than fourteen (14) days should pass from the time a completed application is submitted and the applicant receives the determination letter. The Life Skills Coach will provide a copy of the letter of approval to the parent after the eligibility and benefits determination is made.
